

academy for precision learning®

providing an exceptional education to extraordinary children

To Whom It May Concern,

The Academy for Precision Learning (www.aplschool.org), is an independent K-8 school located in the University Heights Center, serving students across the autism spectrum alongside their typically developing peers. In 2007, APL opened its doors to four students and has since grown to serve over sixty learners. With unique teaching methodologies, individualized curricula, highly skilled staff and broad community support, APL has an effective solution that will redefine the inclusion education experience.

APL continues to thrive because the Founding Families and Board of Directors are united by a common vision:

To be a nationally recognized leader delivering a high quality academic inclusion program for the K-12 student population and providing a replicable educational model for other institutions to implement.

Given tuition only covers a portion of operating costs, APL can only realize this vision with dedicated fundraising efforts. APL's intention is to continue to grow and serve as many deserving students as possible by expanding the current model and driving community based outreach. APL continues to see positive student outcomes and has a growing data portfolio that proves the efficacy of the precision teaching methodology for students of all learning styles.

We believe APL has a solution that can benefit a broad range of elementary and middle school students in the greater Seattle area, but your assistance is needed. Saturday, February 4th, APL is hosting the fifth annual dinner and auction, 'Soaring to New Heights', at Bell Harbor in Seattle. Funds raised from the event will allow the vision of exceptional education for extraordinary children to become a reality.

Please join your community and show your support for APL through a generous donation of goods, services, certificates or experience.

Thank you for your consideration in granting APL the opportunity to positively impact many more deserving students.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Annable
Executive Director

APL is a 501(c)(3) non-profit
EIN #91-2143623